Freedman prepared and signed two affidavits making charges of Communist Party membership against Rosenberg and those affidavits were presented to the Senate Armed Services Committee. The affidavits cited J.B. Matthews (former HUAC Chief Investigator) telling Freedman that Rosenberg " was least desirable person in the entire U.S. " for the position and, according to Matthews, FBI files contained information to prove it – including her ties to Communist organizations. An FBI investigation disproved the allegations against Rosenberg and identified another individual having the same name as having been a Communist Party member. 1	Highlander Folk School, Monteagle TN (Myles Horton) [This is the school which the extreme right characterized as “ a Communist training school ”. The Birch Society in particular plastered the U.S. with postcards and billboards containing a photo of Martin Luther King Jr. attending a Labor Day 1957 function at this school with “Communists”. What the extreme right carefully avoided revealing is that the person who took the photos and whose testimony became the basis for describing HFS as a “Communist” school (i.e. Edwin H. Friend] was a life-long racist and official photographer for the KKK in Georgia. The first publication of the photos and the results of Friend’s “undercover investigation” of HFS were published by Friend’s employer, the Georgia Commission on Education, a state agency devoted to maintaining segregation in Georgia public schools.
